If You Give a Mouse a Cookie

After he trims his hair, he will want to sweep up the mess.

When he is finished the milk, he'll ask for a napkin.

After washing the floors, he will want to take a nap.

Seeing the pictures in the story will get him so excited that he will want to draw.

When he's done with the napkin, he will want to check the mirror.

When he checks himself in the mirror, he will want to trim his hair.

When he is done sweeping, he will want to wash the floors.

If you give him some milk, he'll ask for a straw.

When he goes to take a nap, he will want you to read a story.

If you give a mouse a cookie, he will ask for some milk.

Seeing his picture hanging on the refrigerator will remind him that he is thirsty again.

If he is thirsty again, he will ask for some milk.

After he signs his name to the picture, he will want to hang the picture on the refrigerator.

After he is done drawing, he will want to sign his name.

Chances are, if he asks for some more milk, he will probably want another cookie.
